"ANY NON-RESIDENT HUNTER, in order to export trophies secured, must obtain a permit for this purpose from any Game Warden or Government Agent. This permit will be issued upon payment of the fees due on trophies being exported as set forth in the regulations. Trophy fees are payable on any or all big game killed whether exported or otherwise."

NON-RESIDENTS of the Province hunting big game must be accompanied by a British Columbia licensed guide.

Hunters who wish to ship their trophies from the Province must comply with the provisions of the "Game Act" and the Dominion Customs Regulations in that regard.

The following is a summary of the Customs and Game Regulations, which are being furnished for the convenience of non-resident big-game hunters:—

CUSTOMS REGULATIONS

"Customs Invoices and Export Entry Forms must be tendered with the shipment. NOTE.—Should there not be a Customs Officer at point of shipment, consign trophies to yourself at nearest Customs export point, have form completed on your arrival there, and deliver to the Depot Agent of the Express Company with request to reforward shipment to destination."

NOTICE TO SPORTSMEN

All sportsmen are asked to co-operate by obtaining their firearms licences early in order to assist in eliminating the usual last-minute rush.

Any resident firearms licence-holder must, in hunting deer, moose, mountain-goat, wapiti (elk), or pheasant, be in possession of the required tags for tagging any such animal or pheasant shot in accordance with the Game-tagging Regulations.

Everyone is requested to report recovery of any banded bird, surrendering the band, furnishing particulars of species and sex of bird, and place where and when taken.

No credit can be given for unused deer, goat, moose, or wapiti (elk) tags.

The Game-tagging Regulations apply to resident and to non-resident hunters.

Hunters are requested by the Game Commission to refrain from killing female bear when it is known that they are accompanied by cubs. Do not shoot, take, or molest bear cubs. Remember it is unlawful to pick up or keep bear cubs and deer fawns.

From now on, if at all possible, fishermen obtaining resident anglers' licences will be supplied with a copy of the British Columbia Special Fishery Regulations showing open seasons, etc.

Licence-holders hunting in a municipality are advised to acquaint themselves with any by-laws covering the discharge of firearms that may be in effect therein.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO TRAPPERS

The Game Department is extremely anxious to impress upon all trappers the necessity of preserving their fur-bearing animals, especially beaver. Trappers should refrain from trapping these animals unless they have sufficient number on their trap-lines to warrant trapping. Beaver must not be trapped unless the Beaver-tagging Regulations set forth herein are fully complied with.

The Game Department will give trappers who try to conserve their beaver, as well as other fur-bearing animals, all the assistance in its power to protect their lines from poachers, but, on the other hand, will cancel the lines of those trappers who wilfully overtrap.

Registered trappers are particularly requested to adhere to the following:—

- (1) Do not overtrap; conserve the fur-bearing animals on your trap-line.
- (2) Plainly mark or blaze your trap-line and refrain from trespassing on any other trapper's line or private land.
- (3) Please make your application for renewal of your registered trap-line and your return of catch covering the past season's operations after the expiration of your Special Firearms Licence, or at least before September 30th, as failure to renew or submit your return of catch may place your application for registration in line for cancellation. Trappers must surrender their Resident Special Firearms Licences upon expiration, showing on the back thereof correct information of big-game and fur-bearing animals taken.
- (4) Report every violation of the "Game Act" or regulations immediately to the nearest Game Warden or Constable.
- (5) Suggestions for improvement of the Trapping Laws will be gladly received at all times and given careful consideration by the Game Department.
- (6) Remember that the use of poison or pit-lamps in taking game is prohibited.
- (7) Sale or transfer of any registered trap-lines is prohibited except under certain conditions, and only on permission of the Game Commission.
- (8) White men and Indians are urgently requested to co-operate in conserving fur-bearing animals.
- (9) PREVENT FOREST FIRES. Report any forest fire immediately to the nearest Fire Warden, Game Warden, Forestry Official, or Constable.

- (10) Under 1931 amendments to the "Land Act," it is provided that where any land described in any application for pre-emption record comprises an area situate within the limits of a trap-line registered under the "Game Act," the Minister of Lands and Forests may direct that the pre-emption record shall be granted subject to the continued exercise by the registered holder of the trap-line of all its rights thereto or thereunder, including the exclusive rights of trapping over that area, for a period not exceeding two years from the date of the pre-emption record, in which case the said Minister shall cause a notation to be made on the certificate of pre-emption record for entry in the Land Office register and notice thereof to be given to the pre-emptor.

FUR SALES

- (11) Every fur-trader, in purchasing fur, must insert in his record-book the number of the licence of the person by whom the pelts or skins of fur-bearing animals were trapped, and every fur-trader when purchasing beaver-pelts in the first instance from a trapper shall record in his fur-record book the number of the tag or seal affixed to each beaver-pelt.

FUR SHIPMENTS

- (12) No person shall make any shipment of any big game, or any part thereof, or the eggs of any game bird, whether for export or to a destination within the Province, by any railway, steamship, or express company, or other common carrier, without first preparing the shipment so that the package or receptacle used for the purposes of the shipment may be easily opened for examination of the contents, or else by preparing the shipment by plainly marking on the outside of the package or receptacle, or on a label securely attached thereto, a full description in detail of the contents; and no person shall make any shipment of any game, or any part thereof, or the eggs of any game-bird, whether for export or to a destination within the Province, without first plainly marking on the package or receptacle used for purposes of the shipment, or on a label securely attached thereto, the names and addresses of the consignor and consignee of the shipment respectively, and also the number of any licence issued under the "Game Act" to the consignor.

BOUNTY REGULATIONS (Order in Council No. 666, approved March 21st, 1952.)

1. Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, payment shall be made to any person who is the holder of a licence to carry firearms under the "Game Act" or to an Indian who is a resident of the Province:—

In respect of each cougar killed within the Province a bounty of $20.00

Provided, that when a bonus or registered cougar-hunter who has been appointed in accordance with these regulations personally kills a cougar, within the Province, he shall be entitled to receive a bonus of twenty dollars ($20) over and above the usual bounty set out herein.

In respect of each timber-wolf killed within the Province, excepting the Electoral Districts of Kamloops, Cariboo, and Lillooet, a bounty of 25.00

In the electoral districts mentioned, a bounty of 40.00

In respect of each coyote killed within the Province, a bounty of 4.00

2. Bounties shall not be paid on any cougar unless the whole pelt of the animal is produced with an application for bounty, and in respect to wolves killed or taken in the Electoral Districts of Kamloops, Cariboo, and Lillooet, the whole pelt and the right foreleg pad intact, but elsewhere in the Province the pelt only must be produced. In regard to the term "right foreleg pad intact," this means that the pad should remain on the pelt before application for bounty can be allowed.

Bounty shall not be paid on any coyote unless the complete scalp or cape of the animal is produced, and for the purpose of these regulations "scalp or cape" shall mean all that part of the pelt from the tip of the nose to at least three inches behind the ears.

Further, for the purposes of these regulations a "bonus or registered cougar-hunter" shall mean a person who has registered and has duly entered into contract with the Game Commission to act as a cougar-hunter within a game or prohibited district and under the direct supervision of the said Commission.

The pelt of any wolf or cougar, or scalp or cape of any coyote, must be produced for bounty payment with an application for bounty within two months after the date on which the pelt, scalp, or cape was taken.

3. Any pelt or part of pelt designated herein shall be produced to one of the following officers—namely; a Government Agent, a Provincial Game Inspector or Supervisor, a Game Warden, an officer or constable of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Force, or a person duly authorized in writing by the Game Commission to receive applications—and shall deliver to the officer the application made by the applicant in a form prescribed by the Game Commission, setting out the facts as to the killing of the animal and stating the date on which and the place where it was killed. The applicant, if he is the holder of a licence to carry firearms, shall also produce his firearms licence for inspection by the officer.

4. The officer shall examine the pelt produced, and if a hole is found in either ear of the pelt, he shall refuse the application. If both ears are found to be intact and the application is in accordance with the provisions herein contained, he shall cut a hole of not less than one-half inch in diameter in the left ear of the pelt, and shall endorse upon the application a certificate of approval in the form provided by the Game Commission, and shall return the approved application to the applicant. In respect of an application for bounty covering the destruction of a wolf, the right foreleg pad, where necessary under these regulations, is to be detached and destroyed by the officer taking the application.

5. Where an animal is killed by means other than a firearm, and where the person killing it is neither the holder of a licence to carry firearms nor an Indian, payment of the bounty may be made to that person if his application therefor is approved in writing by the Game Commission and is otherwise in compliance with these regulations.

6. Upon the deposit of the approved application with any Government Agent within sixty (60) days from the date of the certificate of approval, the Government Agent may pay to the applicant the amount payable thereunder with respect to the animals so killed by him.

PREPARATION OR CARE OF GAME MEAT

BIG GAME

1. Go prepared. The following equipment is either essential or desirable in the care of a big-game carcass: Hunting knife, belt axe, 30 feet of $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch rope, some twine, several pieces of clean wiping-cloth, four (4) muslin or cloth sacks, each large enough to hold a quarter of the animal, and several pieces of old but clean canvas for use when carrying the meat on pack-horses.

2. As soon as possible after the animal is shot insert the knife at the point of the brisket with back of the blade against the breastbone, point the tip toward the backbone at the top of the shoulders just under the windpipe, and cut diagonally forward toward the head to sever the large blood-vessels in the neck. If possible, first turn the animal with its head down-hill so that it will bleed freely. Coast deer may be draped across several logs to provide the same effect.

3. After the animal has bled well, turn the carcass with head up-hill and open it from the vent to the throat. Use the hand axe to break the pelvic bone and breastbone. Be careful not to puncture the intestine or paunch. If the animal is first placed on an incline, the paunch and intestines will roll out more freely. Slip your knife forward between the ribs and the paunch (stomach) and cut the muscular diaphragm loose. Cut the windpipe and gullet free as far forward as possible. Take the windpipe and gullet in the left hand and pull backward, at the same time cutting free from the carcass that portion which tends to hold.

4. In the case of deer, place the carcass in position to drain. Wipe the inside of the carcass dry with clean cloth. Do not wash with water. Remove the dark tufts of hair on the hind legs. These are glandular areas which secrete a foul-smelling material that may contaminate the meat. Before using your knife again, you should carefully wipe it clean. The testes left on the carcass will cause no harm.

5. In case the carcass cannot be hung up or is not removed to camp immediately, spread it open with a short spreader-stick across the chest to cool as rapidly as possible and prevent meat from spoiling. Do not leave a carcass exposed to the sun; drag it to a shady place. Certain additional precautions are necessary in the treatment of moose or elk. The carcass must be propped open in several places to permit rapid cooling. Make sure that the pelvis also has been split and propped open to allow the large mass of meat from the hindquarters to cool as rapidly as possible. Roll the animal on its back so that the warm air and steam which rises from the body cavity may escape and speed up the cooling process and that the maximum area may be exposed to the air. Never leave warm meat in the cloth or canvas containers. Unpack the meat from the cloth or muslin sacks each night and allow it to hang in a cool, dry place. When horses are used for packing, the meat should be wrapped in clean canvas with the hair side toward the horse. Packing should be done only after the meat has become cooled.

6. When the entire carcass is to be transported, leave the hide on the animal to prevent the meat from becoming soiled and drying out.

7. If it is desired to save the head and scalp for mounting, do not stick the animal in the throat. Open the skin squarely on the side of each shoulder, skin down to the leg on one side, cut across to the other leg, preserving the brisket skin intact. Roll the animal over and skin down from the shoulder in the same manner until the cuts meet. Then, starting on top of the animal and between the shoulders, open the skin at the back of the neck almost to the antlers. Pull the skin free from neck and shoulders and up to the head. Then, and not until then, open the animal's throat and bleed in the usual manner. A neck skin cut where the usual inexperienced hunter thinks is proper will be eight to twelve inches too short for good mounting.

UPLAND GAME BIRDS

Grouse often require particular attention, as they are killed early in the season when the weather is still warm. Special treatment is also necessary due to the berry juices that leak from shot-holes in the intestines and stain the meat, often imparting a strong flavour to the flesh. For this reason it is advisable to remove the viscera from grouse (particularly blue grouse) as soon as they are killed. Make a small incision near the vent large enough to insert two fingers, and pull out the contents. When the birds are prepared in this way, it will be necessary to make doubly sure that flies do not gain access to the incision. Do not leave birds in a hunting coat or piled in a car trunk. Hang them in a cool place, enclosed in a muslin sack to keep out the flies. It is advisable to clean all game birds, including water-fowl, soon after they are shot or removed to a place of residence in order to prevent the intestines from leaking and the juices tainting the meat.

WHAT IS A SPORTSMAN?

(Written by Mr. Hal M. Harrison as part of the introduction to Pennsylvania Game News.)

If you are one of the thousands of persons who do nothing more for conservation than to buy a hunting and fishing licence annually, you are not a sportsman; a hunter or fisherman perhaps, but not a sportsman.

If your interest in hunting and fishing is solely in killing more game and catching more fish, you are not a sportsman. Furthermore, if all hunters and anglers were like you, your sport would be doomed.

The Game Commission alone cannot supply enough game for hunters whose only interest is killing. The Commission cannot stock enough fish to supply the demands of licence holders who are interested only in getting their limit every time they're going fishing.

Wild life is a heritage to be cherished and conserved. If it is to be harvested, it is to be harvested wisely. And when it reaches the danger point, it is not to be harvested at all. When hunters and fishermen come to realize that this vast wilderness of ours and the wild life within it belongs to all of the people of the Province; when they come to realize that hunting and fishing is not a game in which they try to beat the other fellow; when they learn that killing the things we cherish just for the sake of killing is wild-life bankruptcy; and when they decide that it is their job, not just the other fellow's, to help conserve and bring back our precious wild life; then and only then will all of our nimrods and anglers be called sportsmen.

Just as sure as the game violator is a thief, so is the person who answers "Bunk" to the above statement a menace to the future of sport afield. He's the guy who's taking it away from us without giving a thing. He's the one we sportsmen will have to work on before he puts an end to public hunting. He's a tough guy, and the only way we can reach him is to play it his way . . . tough!

If you are a real sportsman, the big thing after all is getting out-of-doors. You hunt and fish and you enjoy it, but it's because you are in the open . . . in the woods, the fields, the mountains, along the streams, in the marshes. That's what really counts.
